I'd like to build this site like a wikipedia page in which each of the topics is a link or tab that will scroll to that section of the page.

Basic Overview: Basic overview at the top of the site.

Plot: Basic plot of Ozark

Cast: Will include two sections: one for main characters and one for recurring characters with character descriptions and the names of the actors that portray them for both

Season 1:

Episode overview of season one, will include season episode names with brief descriptions

Season 2:

Episode overview of season one, will include season episode names with brief descriptions

Critical Reception: Will consist of two sections, the first will include solely critical reception/reviews (reception for viewers, rotten tomatoes, and various other review sites). The second all be awards and accolades.
